

Every new beginning is a question.

Pause. Listen. Rediscover. KOGIBO is the app that helps you think for yourself, grow and make time for what truly matters.

We believe our own brain is the most powerful AI.

In a world full of AI, we want to change the conversation. Instead of asking artificial intelligence what to think, we want to ask it for questions that make us pause. And really think.

A small ritual. A fresh perspective.

An app in development for iOS and Android that supports personal reflection: questions, choices and moments to yourself. The website already offers a small taste, in Italian and English.

Explore choices and values

Observe your own journey

Make time for what matters

KOGIBO comes from the Latin cogitare: to think, reflect, imagine.

OUR FUTURE, TOGETHER

A clear direction. A future to build together.

THE PRIORITIES WE WANT TO FUND

01

A product that matters

Shape a simple, considered and accessible experience, built around people.

02

Questions that open doors

Develop reflection journeys and content that encourage curiosity and independent thought.

03

Wider horizons

Bring KOGIBO to more people, in more languages, through responsible growth.

THE JOURNEY

Today

An app in development and a vision centred on human thought. A reflection experience already available to explore on kogibo.com.

The next step

Refine the experience and content through feedback and validation with the people we want to serve.

The horizon

Prepare for launch, reach more people and responsibly grow the journeys and languages available.

We're looking for investors and partners who share our belief in human potential. Explore the project at www.kogibo.com.
